

Live blogging a sitcom I've never seen before, with the sound off, on an airplane.

Written by Greg Mills

*Neil Patrick Harris, the "At Band Camp" lady, the guy from that Sarah Marshall movie, and two swarthy guys are in a bar (one looks like Johnny Depp, the other guy has a moustache)

*Neil Patrick seems to be a douche bag

*Band Camp raises her eyebrows as Neil Patrick laughs at anecdote

*Flashback: Sarah Marshall guy is getting... electrolysis? Doctor/practitioner is attractive blond. Some sort of flirting is happening

*Cut back to bar. Sarah Marshall guy is talking. Is this a Regal Beagle/Central Perk-type hangout?

*Cut back to Doctor's office. Swarthy non-moustache guy is now there, wearing sun glasses. So is doctor. I have no idea why

*Cut back to bar. Swarthy non-moustache guy is telling story. Neil Patrick raises his eyebrow suggestively. Band camp girl laugh toothily.

*Now non-moustache guy is on.. date? w/ doctor. Is carrying patently fake flowers. Not sure if the fake flowers are a gag or just a poor choice by the prop guy

*They are on the stoop of a brownstone, laughing toothily. It is daylight. A cab pulls up, and they run down the stairs laughing hand in hand. Date is going well, from the looks of it.

*Cut back to bar. Non-moustache is gesturing wildly. Sarah Marshall guy is shaking his head with a smirky look on his face. What gives Sarah Marshall guy? Can't be happy for your newly depilated chum?

*Cut back to the stoop. Non-moustache guy leaves the building with a wistful grin on his face. Flowers are gone. With the doctor no doubt. (Seriously, the flowers were bad. Like magician flowers)

*Now on the sidewalk, Non-moustache guy's smile fades and he looks up. A blond lady, not unattractive, walks up to him, smiling toothily. He looks dumbstruck. The girl talks to him.

*The credits roll.